Why do I have such a hard time getting rid of my acnes?

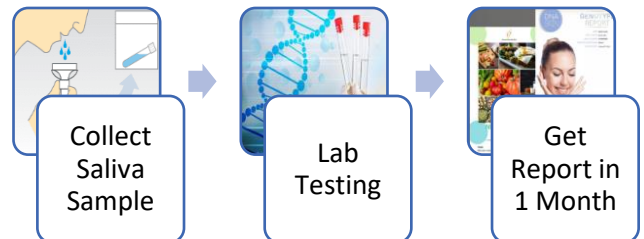

Why do I get tanned so quickly when exposed sunlight?

How is it done?

The answer could lie in your DNA

There are tiny variations within our DNA that make us all slightly different from one another in how our skins age and respond to the skincare routines.

Make informed choices according to your genetic makeup

Now you can take a DNA test to uncover the secrets of your skin and choose what work best for you.
